

Atmospheric Pollution & Human Health in a Chinese Megacity (APHH-China) Programme

Conditions of use of APHH-China data

1. Access to all data submitted to the APHH (China) archive will be restricted to project participants until the end of December 2019, after which they will be released into the public domain under the Open Government Licence.
2. Whilst the data are restricted from the public domain, no data should be transferred to a third party without the originator's consent.
3. Whilst the data are restricted from the public domain, all investigators have the right to refuse that their work, whether measurement or calculation, be used in a publication or presentation prior to the investigators' own publication of that work.
4. If measurements or model results from other groups within the programme are used in a project participant's publication during or after the programme, joint authorship must be offered.
5. In all cases where the data are used in a presentation or publication, a citation must be given. Users should refer to the appropriate dataset page in the CEDA Data Catalogue (<http://catalogue.ceda.ac.uk>) for the specific citation to use. For example, "British Antarctic Survey (2008): British Antarctic Survey: high resolution radiosonde data from Halley and Rothera stations. NCAS British Atmospheric Data Centre, date of citation.
<http://catalogue.ceda.ac.uk/uuid/37f2bef57e28bcd780a5cbfe077f4bf8> " Further details on data citation are available at: <http://www.ceda.ac.uk/help/users-guide/citing-data/>
6. Information submitted in application for access to the data will be made available to the Natural Environment Research Council (NERC) and its delegated authorities, i.e. the PI, CEDA and their host organisation, the Science and Technology Facilities Council (STFC) for the purposes of tracking data usage and of improving the service.
