

NOAA Open Access Data from the CEDA archive

NOAA data centres permit redistribution of their open access data in keeping with the United States' open data policies and practices as described in the President's Memorandum on "Open Data Policy" and pursuant to the Executive Order of May 9, 2013, "Making Open and Machine Readable the New Default for Government Information". In line with these policies, the Open Access data sets are non-proprietary, publicly available, and no restrictions are placed upon their use.

The NOAA/NESDIS data policy for openly accessible scientific data, including data from environmental satellites observing the Earth from space can be found here <https://www.nesdisia.noaa.gov/policy.html> .